FRATERNALISM PRAISED IN TALK

Emerson Ballard Extols Virtues of Lodges at Memorial Service at East Hill.

200 MARCH TO THE CEMETERY

Declares Fraternal Orders Are Prompted by a Spirit of Friendship, Love and Charity.

Approximately two hundred lodge-men marched to East Hill cemetery yesterday afternoon, led by the Rushville band, for the annual joint memorial services of the Modern Woodmen, Odd Fellows, Red Men and Knights of Pythias lodges. The address was delivered by Emerson Ballard of Crawfordsville. A crowd of more than a thousand people gathered at the cemetery for the service. S. L. Trabue introduced Mr. Ballard.

Mr. Ballard extolled the virtues of fraternal orders, pointed to their value to mankind in general and showed that they are prompted by friendship, charity, love and fellowship.

"Once the strong destroyed the weak; widows and orphans were unprotected," he said. "Then fraternal orders came to their rescue. They protect the weak from the strong and offer a haven for widowed women and fatherless children.

"The lodge is the result of the social instinct of man. Aside from all other reasons, the lodge is of immense value from the social viewpoint. The intimate association in the lodge room throws the calcium light on the best attributes of men. It bares the tear on the rough cheek and shows a spark of love for mankind in the most hardened heart. It makes men more patient and forgiving.

"These four lodges set up their altar here today in the city of the dead to pay tribute to those gone to another land and to tune our feelings for a more kindly expression here on earth. The lodges are the fortress of the weak and unfortunate. Their brotherhood embraces all the virtues.

"No curtains separate them; they are divided by no creed. As impossible as it is to add entertainment to you on this occasion here this afternoon, just as impossible is it to exalt the work of death. Death has taken its score since last you met here, and just as you meet here year after year, so do these institutions exemplify the same law of repetition."

Touching on the lodges joining in the memorial service, he said: "Odd Fellowship still teaches the lessons of love and truth as it has since it was founded; the Knights of Pythias still repeat the story of Damon and Pythias, the wonderful story of sacrifice and brotherhood; the Red Men still cling to the historic freedom of the Red Man and bring to us day by day the lesson of friendship and charity; the Modern Woodmen teach us that the real good in life comes from making a life for another.

"These institutions batter down the rough side of men. To the outer world they may hide their insignia, their pass words and their ritual, but their deeds are open to the world. They are the kindergartens where men are taught the principle of brotherhood, which will in time become universal.

"We are here another year for the same purpose, but knowledge has nothing new to report and faith stands at the head of each new

TO BE UP FOR TRESPASSING

Omer Adams Will be Arranged To-night on Big Four Charge.

Omer Adams has been arrested on the charge of malicious trespass and will be given a hearing tonight before Mayor Bebout. The charge against Adams was preferred by a Big Four detective, it being alleged that he smashed the panels in the door of the Seventh street flag shanty, the property of the Big Four railway. Adams claims that he was leaning up against the door and that the panels fell in. There is one witness, William Kinnett.

PLAYGROUND MAY BE STARTED HERE

Public Meeting of Women Will be Held at Library Next Monday to Consider Plans.

NOTHING TO HINDER IT NOW

A public meeting of Rushville women will be held a week from today at the public library in the court house to decide whether Rushville shall have a public playground for children this summer. The playground agitation was started last summer and since then it has been suggested that the question be allowed to rest for a time until the school board is in better financial condition. Then the board, it was stated, would employ one teacher for the year and his duties during the vacation would be to supervise the playground work.

Officers of the Rushville Civic Improvement and Social Service association were content with this, but this summer the agitation has been renewed again and officers of the association have called the meeting to consider the question. The opinions of a number of women have been obtained and they all want the project started at once. They feel that there would be no difficulty. The sentiment seems to be that there would be no trouble in obtaining plenty of room for a playground in the city park.

DEMAND $1,519.18 ATTORNEYS FEES

Will J. Henley and John L. Baker Want This Sum For Defending Owen L. Carr in Two Cases.

BOTH LAW SUITS SETTLED

William J. Henley and John L. Baker, of Indianapolis, a law firm known as Henley and Baker, have filed suit against Owen L. Carr, in the circuit court, alleging that Carr is indebted to them in the sum of $1,519.18 for services rendered as attorneys.

The complaint is in two paragraphs. It is asserted that Henley and Baker were employed by Carr to look after his interests in a case in which Timothy Ross was demanding approximately $37,000 of Carr and in a case which Carr and others were the defendants in a criminal action in the state of Illinois. It is alleged that through the efforts of the two attorneys both cases were settled and that their fee was $1,519.18, which is still unpaid.

WARMEST FIGHT IN LAST CONTEST

E. A. Billings Nominated For Commissioner From Middle District in Democratic Convention.

THREE BALLOTS TO DECIDE

David Price of Ripley Township Wins Other Nomination For Commissioner With Ease.

The Democratic county convention closed late Saturday afternoon with the nomination of a commissioner from the middle district. The fight for this place was the warmest of the convention and was decided after three ballots, Elijah A. Billings of Union township being the successful candidate.

The fight was a three cornered affair from start to finish. The other candidates were Sabert Offutt of Posey township and Henry Beckner of Jackson township. Billings gained on every ballot and finally won out on the third. On the first ballot the vote was: Beckner, 70; Offutt 89, and Billings 109. The second ballot showed a gain of ten for Billings and was as follows: Beckner 62, Offutt 87 and Billings 119. The vote on the third and deciding ballot was, Beckner 35, Offutt 95 and Billings 138.

The nominee for commissioner of the northern district is David Price of Ripley township. Mr. Price was opposed by Bert Cohee of Center township. Only one ballot was necessary to decide the contest. The vote was Cohee 86 and Price 181. The complete ticket as nominated is as follows: John D. Megee, judge; Donald Smith, prosecutor; Oliver Cook, treasurer; Voorhees Cavitt, sheriff; Thomas C. Gray, recorder; Adolphus Cameron, surveyor; James Tarplee, assessor; David Price, commissioner northern district; Elijah Billings, commissioner middle district.

The convention furnished several surprises. It was conceded for several days before the convention that Cary Jackson, of this city, would be beaten for the nomination for county treasurer. The fight was expected to be closer than it was and the strength of Oliver Cook, Jackson's opponent, was a surprise. The vote was Cook 162 and Jackson 96.

The closest fight was between Don Casady and Thomas Gray for recorder. Mr. Gray won out by ten votes, the total being 139 to 129. Eli Collins withdrew his name just as the vote was being taken for the nomination for assessor and James Tarplee was nominated by acclamation.

DOESN'T WANT ON TICKET.

Logotee, Ind., June 8.—John C. Terry, a citizen of Delbert township, who was nominated on the Progressive county ticket some time ago, in a written statement says that his name was placed on the Progressive ticket against his knowledge and that he will not be a candidate on that ticket but will support the Republican cause.

ONE BEFORE SQUIRE.

Henry Caplinger, of Richland township, was fined one dollar and costs in Squire Kratzer's court this morning for public intoxication. He was arrested by Sheriff Cavitt on an affidavit filed by John M. Ryon. His fine amounting to $12.25 was paid.

William B. Richey, who underwent an operation some time ago at the Sexton sanatorium was removed to his home in Milroy yesterday afternoon.

SLANDER IS A PUBLIC WRONG

Rev. C. M. Yocum Speaks on "Evils of Tongue" at Main Street Christian Church Sunday.

SERMONS BY OTHER PASTORS

Rev. S. G. Huntington Pleads For Same Enthusiasm That Fills Ball Park Sunday Afternoon.

Pastors discussed various subjects in the Rushville pulpits Sunday. The Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, last night in talking on the subject, "The Brevity of Life," pleaded for enthusiasm in church work which will fill the churches Sunday morning like the ball park is filled Sunday afternoon. The Rev. C. M. Yocum at the Main Street Christian church spoke of the evils of slander and at the St. Paul's M. E. church the Rev. A. D. Batchelor reached the forth of the series of Sunday evening sermons on conscience.

St. Paul's M. E.

Last night at the Methodist Church Rev. Batchelor preached the fourth sermon in a series on the conscience, the subject being, "Conscience and Memory." The text was Luke 16:25, "Son remember." He said in part: "These words were spoken to a rich man in hell. He was in torment because he remembered. It is the recollection of wrong deeds which brings pain to the conscience. The incident before us implies the survival of memory after death. If memory is indestructible so also is conscience, for memory causes conscience to work. If conscience never dies then eternal torment is a possibility.

"It was the opinion of Lord Bacon that nothing in one's antecedent history was ever forgotten. This would seem to be true. Things which we thought we had forgotten are ever and anon recalled by circumstance and condition. Then on the Judgment Day God will be able to remind us of deeds stored in our memories. And this memory will be a fire in our souls. In his psychology Prof. James tells us that 'the effective consciousness is the after-consciousness' and then quotes Richet as saying that he would prefer to suffer any pain, however acute than to endure the reverberation or recall of pain. It is the reverberation of memory that makes one's hell. God will say, 'Son remember' and the worst of it is we will remember.

"Memory then is never lost, and conscience survives together with it. There is proof of this in the law of mental association. The thoughts of our minds are associated in a continuous chain. There is a connection then between all our personal experiences. Under such a law it is impossible that any of them should be irretrievably lost. It only requires the right suggestion to start in motion a train of thoughts which will recall a certain experience. Who better knows our thoughts and the way by which they are correlated than God? In that last day therefore he can set in motion that association of thoughts which will recall our good and evil deeds. When he shall say to us, 'Son remember' we will remember and feel the sting of remorse for past evil deeds. We cannot control our memories. Things are resurrected in the consciousness through the law of association whether we will it or not.

"The perpetuity of memory may be seen from examples of resuscitation through stimulus. Things presumably forgotten are suddenly re-

NON-COMBATANTS KILLED

Riots Imminent in Mexican Town Held by Federal Troops.

On Board U. S. S. California off Mazatlan (by wireless) June 8.—Non-combatants in Mazatlan are pleading with General Rodriguez, military governor, to surrender the city to the Rebel forces.

Many persons in the city have been killed by Rebel sharp shooters or have died from starvation. Rodriguez refused to heed the pleas of citizens and riots are reported imminent.

WAR SCARE BLOWS UP IN BIG FIZZLE

Huerta Countermands Order to Blockade Port of Tampico to Prevent Landing of Arms

EVIDENTLY FEARS U. S. NAVY

(By United Press.)

Mexico City, June 8.—The Huerta government today countermanded the order for a blockade of Tampico. This action by Huerta is believed to have followed the receipt of word that the United States would not permit the blockade. The Huerta government realized the utter futility of opposing the American naval force.

LAST OF QUARTET ARRAIGNED TODAY

Thomas Keaton Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Dynamiting Fish and Furnishes Bond of $350.

OTHER ACTS IN COURT TODAY

Thomas (Muldoon) Keaton, was arranged in the circuit court this morning on the charge of using dynamite to kill fish and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on bond in the sum of $350 furnished by Michael O'Riley. The affidavit against Keaton filed at the same time similar charges were preferred against John Toolen, Hubert Moster and Greely Perkins. All the men are out on bond.

A motion for a change of venue was filed this morning in the case of Larry B. Harris against the P. C. C. & St. L. railway by the defendant. Harris demands damages in the sum of $600. Judge Megee has not yet taken any action on the motion.

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff in the suit of Florence Brown against John and Jessie Ertle in the sum of $258.51. The suit was on notes and to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $300.

Kansas Also Wants 4,000 Teams to Harvest Wheatcrop.

(By United Press.)

Topeka, Kas., June 8.—The state free employment bureau today reported 62,000 men and 4,000 teams are needed from outside Kansas to handle the record breaking wheat crop. Destroying insects have had little effect on the crops.

RELIEF IS FELT IN WASHINGTON

Sudden Change of Front by Huerta Makes it Unnecessary for U. S. to Show Its Hand.

PROTOCOL IS NOW IN VIEW

Believes Dictator Will Soon Cease to be Potent Factor in Affairs of Mexican Republic.

BY JOHN E. NEVIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 8.—Mexican skies were clearing this afternoon and district jubilation was discernable at the state department and the White House. The end of Huerta was believed to be in sight. His backdown the blockade of Tampico was accepted as his final word in opposition. The administration believed that he sees the handwriting on the wall and will soon cease to be a potent factor in the affairs of the Mexican republic.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan told the president of the overnight developments and it was agreed that the situation was much improved. Carranza is expected to gain his point of participation in the Niagara Falls mediation conference without having to agree to an armistice. If he does diplomats here assert his representative will outline the protocol which will be signed settling definitely the Mexican dissension.

"The situation is very encouraging," said Secretary Bryan this afternoon.

Relief was shown by officials when they learned Huerta had backed down from his plan to blockade Tampico. This change will make it unnecessary for the United States to show its hand, apparently in favor of the Constitutionalists. The Spanish ambassador today officially notified the state department of Huerta's changed position. He said Huerta gave no reason for the sudden change.

The A. B. C. mediators have been bringing pressure to bear on the Huerta commissioners to prevent Huerta raising an obstacle that would in any way injure mediation. High government chief were inclined to accept this to mean that the mediators will allow Carranza to enter their conference.

If they do so all possible contention will be eliminated and it will be possible to put through a protocol which can have the support of a united Mexico. At least this was the way the White House viewed the situation today.

It Doesn't Pay

It is human nature to resent having something forced on you that you do not want.

The customer who asks for a branded article by name has a right to that article.

"Something just as good" naturally raises a suspicion against the storekeeper.

The customer may be persuaded to take the suggested article, but it will have to be something mighty good to entirely remove all suspicion from the mind.

The store that gets reputation for chronically offering "just as good" loses in the long run.

Grass Stimulant Necessary to Keep Lawn in Good Condition

In the late spring, about a month after active grass growth has commenced on the lawn, it is desirable to apply a grass stimulant to keep the lawn in first-class condition. Nitrate of soda is a good fertilizer and will make the grass grow thickly with a rich dark green color that will show itself promptly after the application. The landscape gardener of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advises that those who use nitrate of soda should apply it at the rate of 50 pounds per acre once a month throughout the summer beginning about the middle of May in the latitude of Washington, D. C.

The nitrate of soda should be applied just before a rain or a sprinkling with the hose. Under ordinary conditions it will keep the lawn a vivid green during the period when the vitality of the plant is low. The application of this fertilizer combined with careful watering (described in a previous article) will prevent the parched appearance of the lawn during the dry hot summer season.

When nitrate is applied during any dry period it should be used carefully. It can, however, be applied at any time if the nitrate of soda is powdered up fine before using but it is safest to dissolve it in water. Because of a generally prevailing fear that this fertilizer may ruin a lawn if used carelessly, the Department has been experimenting to see just how much nitrate of soda would have to be used in order to kill grass. These experiments seem to show that nitrate of soda can be used fairly extensively without causing injury, for attempts to kill grass with it were unsuccessful except when such large quantities as 400 pounds to an acre were used.

Although fertilization is a splendid thing for the upkeep of a lawn it will never entirely make up for a lawn soil that was poorly prepared in the beginning. It is only when a lawn soil is properly prepared in the first place and enriched with stable manure, lime, and bone phosphate that a lawn may be maintained in the best condition.

Unrotted stable manure should be kept away from a lawn at all times, the opinion of many to the contrary notwithstanding. Stable manure contains weed seeds and particularly after the early growth of grass these weed seeds will be encouraged to sprout, for at this time the grass is weakened by its spring growth and the weeds have additional impetus to spread. A weed has been defined as a "plant out of place." Weeds are certainly out of place on a well-kept lawn. Fertilizing materials have a great advantage over stable manure as they contain no weed seeds.

There are other fertilizers besides nitrate of soda that are most valuable for the lawn but their use is more especially adapted to the fall. Later the Department will issue advice regarding the application of such materials as ground bone, phosphate rock, potash, dried blood, fish scrap, and sterilized sheep manure. The dissolved rock in particular should not be used in the spring.

BIG CROWD HEARS COUNTY AGENT TALK

W. A. Butler Addresses Interested Audience at New Fairview School House Concerning Work.

HE SHOWS LANTERN SLIDES

A good sized Crowd gathered in the gymnasium of the new Fairview school building Friday night, to hear W. A. Butler tell of his work as county agricultural agent in Madison county. Mr. Butler plainly is man of much information, and takes his work seriously. He showed the audience a series of lantern slides, revealing conditions in orchards, among field crops and elsewhere about farms in his own territory. These slides, too, gave his audience a better understanding than they had before of the legitimate work of an agent. He is the expert, the consulting doctor of stock and crops. It is his business to go to the depths of problems which the ordinary farmer only sees in their solution. The lecture was informative, interesting and well calculated to show that the county agent, far from being the idle creature of an inexperienced legislature, is really an important servant.

LOSES MILLION DOLLARS A MONTH

Pig Iron Industry in This Country Feels Effects of New Tariff, According to Report.

MANY FURNACES SHUT DOWN

Thousands of Employees Suffer Cut in Wages and More Reductions Are Yet to Come.

Washington, June 8.—A million dollars a month is what the pig iron industry in this country is losing, according to the report of John A. Penton, of Cleveland, Secretary of the American Pig Iron Association. Many furnaces have shut down, he says, and plants are in the hands of receivers. Thousands of employees have suffered a cut in wages due to this condition and more reductions are to follow.

"We have now confronting us one more hardship," says Mr. Penton, in his report, "in the shape of the knowledge that foreign countries, owing to the abolition of our tariff and because of their lower cost of production are going to be able to ship, and are even right now shipping and arranging to ship quantities of foreign pig iron into our country when the whole industry here is operating at a loss of millions of dollars a month."

The pig iron industry is not the only example of the effect of the Democratic tariff law. Employers and employees in industrial establishments the country over are feeling the force of a general depression. Readjustments made necessary by the new tariff law have caused a general slowing down of business. Reports from many industries indicate a business depression which have thrown thousands of men out of employment.

That the unemployed are holding the present Democratic administration responsible for present conditions is shown by the overwhelming Republican victory in the seventh New Jersey Congressional District, not long ago. In that district, Republicans made the tariff the issue and the Democrats accepted it. Evidently the unemployed of that district hold President Wilson and the administration's supporters responsible for bad industrial conditions for the President's popularity in his home State could not withstand opposition to the administration's policies.

grave, but to them both we cling because to them we owe all. Whether death is the alpha or the omega, a door or a wall, all the forces have not demonstrated, but we have learned the slender chord of life is not cut by the sword of vengeance. We know Christ did not come to earth two thousand years ago for nothing. We have learned that death is the latch string to eternity.

"But in death we may find something of satisfaction. On top of a new grave seeds of envy and hatred are never sown. They are never cultivated there. Never is the soul ripper for the word from on high than when death has silently taken one that is dear to it."

We Are Still Selling Buggies....

and have every style buggy known to the best vehicle builders in the country. We have large, roomy buggies that are low down and easy to get in and out of and then we have them for the young folks (we don't mean baby carriages) and middle aged people. In fact, we have buggies to meet every requirement of all kinds of buggy users. There is no use for us to tell you of their quality, perhaps you have already found that out by using one, or if not you can ask your neighbor and he will tell you how they wear. You take no chances when you buy from us because we guarantee every buggy we sell and guarantee it an honest one, and one that is always good. We believe that an honest guarantee gives us the good will of our customers and when a merchant loses the good will of his customers he is flitting with the commercial undertaker. Let us fit you out with your next buggy and you will always be glad you did it.

MARGUERITE RISSER.

FRANCIS MARION, "The Swamp Fox," is a new three part story of the Revolution just released. Stirring action and splendid staging make this picture a success, while the love theme which runs through it rounds out the story perfectly.

Marguerite Risser is a charming young lady who can act equally well in drama, comedy or farce and has many devotees wherever the movies are known.

Dramatic parts are the forte of Charlotte Burton, a popular young actress. Although Miss Burton's face fits her for ingenue parts she prefers to interpret character with more depth of feeling than is usually allotted the young girl on the screen. On that account Miss Burton has endeared herself to thousands of photo play fans as an emotional actress.

MISSOURI COURT SUSTAINED TODAY

Supreme Court Upholds Ouster of Harvester Trust, Virtually Declaring it is Monopoly.

ORIGINALLY FINED $50,000

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 8.—The supreme court today sustained the Missouri ouster of the "Harvester trust."

Both the anti-trust laws of Missouri and the right of the "Harvester Trust" to do business in Missouri were at stake in the decision today. It was the culmination of a long fight by Missouri to oust the "trust" from doing business there by revoking its charter. The Missouri Supreme Court found the "trust" guilty of violating the state anti-trust laws, revoked its charter and originally fined it $50,000. This fine was afterward reduced to $25,000. The Trust was given a chance to modify its sales methods, but appealed instead to the high court, declining to compromise with the state.

The case decided today was originally begun against the Milwaukee Harvester Company, the selling agent in Missouri of the International company. The Wisconsin corporation took out a Missouri license, which was cancelled by the Missouri courts. The "trust" contended that its selling plan was not a monopoly, but was planned to furnish implements to consumers at the lowest possible prices. The state admitted that price increases were not the principal cause of complaint, but found the corporation guilty of stifling competition and crushing competitors.

English Scientist Gives Demonstration of a Most Remarkable Apparatus.

"Seeing by wire" is the startling suggestion of Dr. A. M. Low, a well known British scientific investigator.

Dr. Low in London gave a demonstration for the first time in public of a new invention whereby he claims that it is possible "for persons using a telephone to see each other at the same time."

The New York Times quotes Dr. Low as follows:

"It may be remarkable, but in reality it is quite simple, and I am sure that some day—perhaps not in our time, but some day—people on a liner at sea will be able to witness a spectacle taking place on shore, transmitted to the ship by wireless in the way news is now sent."

Dr. Low explained that he had been experimenting with the reproduction of pictures at a distance electrically for five years. He had been successful already over a distance of four miles, using ordinary telephonic and telegraphic apparatus.

The apparatus which Dr. Low has invented is a screen consisting of a large number of cells of selenium, over which a ruler is moved rapidly by a small motor, worked with a current of high frequency and of about 50,000 volts pressure. It is fitted in a box at the side of a telephone. The receiver at the other end is made up of a series of telephone slabs of steel, through which the light passes.

Another prediction Dr. Low ventured was that one of his machines could be used for the study of military operations taking place at a distance. This, he said, would be introducing a new complication into warfare—"seeing what the enemy is doing on the other side of a mountain."

It is estimated that there are approximately one million automobiles in use in this country, and that they consume $100,000,000 worth of gasoline in a year.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

Simple indeed is the working of this lovely centerpiece for it is easily done in outline-stitch. This stitch needs no padding, as does the solid work, and therefore it can be done very rapidly.

This centerpiece design, No. 14673, is 22 inches in diameter and may be worked on heavy white round-thread cotton. Outline-stitch, solid work and eyelets may be combined effectively in working these sprays, while the scalloped edge should be done in heavily padded buttonhole-stitch. This design will require about 15 skeins of No. 25 working cotton.

These sprays may be cut apart and used on bureau-scarfs, sideboard-covers and tray-cloths of linen, lawn or batiste.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

REPUBLICAN CALL

For Congressional Convention of the Sixth District.

The Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District of Indiana will meet in delegate convention in Cambridge on June 16, 1914, at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Congress for the Sixth Congressional District. The total number of delegates to said convention will be 106, apportioned to the several counties, comprising the district, as follows:

Fayette	11
Franklin	7
Hancock	10
Henry	18
Rush	14
Shelby	15
Union	5

By order of Republican State Com-

District Chairman.

Pay Us a Visit.

Rushville this week will celebrate its first Big Wednesday of the season. It is expecting a big crowd of visitors and it behooves all Rushville citizens, the same as the merchants, to place their best foot forward. Rushville's bargain days, original here, have created attention elsewhere. They are worthy the effort of all persons to make them the best possible.

Even if visitors have no intention of taking advantage of the special trade offers that are made for this day, they may at least be the guests of Rushville and accept our hospitality. We are going to give our guests the best we have and we should make them know it.

While here, the Republican invites all people from out of the city or any others who may be interested to visit and inspect the Republican company's equipment. We pride ourselves on our up-to-dateness, for in that alone can we give the best service.

The building of a newspaper of this day and age is practically a sealed book to the uninitiated. The demands of the age are for greater and more rapid service. The Republican is attempting to keep stride with the demands of the times. Machinery has undergone a complete change in a decade. Three men are doing the work of ten now and yet the Republican employs more persons than it ever has in its history.

The Republican now uses two type setting machines for composition. It recently installed a web-perfecting printing press which prints from a roll delivering a folded paper printed on both sides at the same operation. Furthermore, the Republican has an independent leased wire service which keeps it in touch with the important happenings all over the world. The public is cordially invited to inspect all of these improvements.

Foreign Trade.

The National Foreign Trade Convention, representing a hundred leading commercial and industrial organizations of the country, has just come to a close in the National Capital. This suggests a timely inquiry:

Which side of the foreign trade ledger is America going to be on—the credit or the debit side? For years, under a Republican protective tariff law, the United States has been on the Credit side, with plenty of gold piling up in our vaults instead of in foreign banks.

But now!

Reports show that America is sending a great deal of gold across the seas. Whether this gold is going to pay for the heavy imports under the Democratic tariff law, we must, with perfect fairness, say is yet to be seen. But this is true right now: We have plenty of gold here in America and the reason we have plenty of gold is because we have been selling American-made goods to Europe and taking their money for it. Now, under the Wilson tariff, we are buying foreign goods and paying for them in American gold. And, with the tariff as it has been fixed by the Democratic Party, we can no longer expect to cancel the charges for American-made goods.

Lincoln said: "I do not know about the tariff, but I do know if you buy a ton of steel rails abroad you have the rails and the foreigner has the money; if you make a ton of rails here, you have both the rails and the money."

So, while we are talking about extending our foreign trade, we may expect to hear further reports that our gold is being shipped to Europe. When we hear these reports, perhaps it will be just as well to bear these facts in mind.

FAVORS CONSTITUTION.

(By United Press.)
Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Hugh Th. Miller, Republican candidate for the United States senate, this afternoon declared himself in favor of the state constitutional convention at the conference here on that subject. He urged an affirmative vote on the proposition at the polls next fall.

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Professor James A. Woodburn of Indiana University, addressing the conference on the constitutional convention, told the history of the constitution making in Indiana. He outlined briefly the record of the two conventions of 1816 and 1851. He gave an account of the passing of the old territorial government for that of statehood. The convention at Corydon in 1816 was composed of forty-three delegates from only thirteen counties. The delegates met under the great elm early in June just ninety-eight years ago, he said, in the little town in Harrison county which was then the capital of the territory and which remained the capital of the State for eight years to come. He said:

"The enabling act of congress authorizing the people of Indiana Territory to have a convention to frame an instrument of State government was passed in April; the delegates to the convention were elected in May; they went in June, and these delegates completed their important work of forming a state constitution in nineteen days. They did not take the time to submit the constitution to the people for ratification. There seemed to be some hurry in order to get the State into the Union for the fall session of Congress."

"The new constitution had not long been in operation until a demand arose for changes," he said. "The supreme court judges were nominated by the Governor and confirmed by the State Senate and quarrels arose between these departments over the personal appointments. A popular demand arose for a new convention. In January the legislature passed an act submitted the question of a new convention to a referendum of the voters. The question, Convention, or no Convention, was voted on. There were 81,000 votes for the convention and 57,000 against it. More than 10,000 voters who voted for Governor failed to express themselves on the convention and it lost."

"There was not as much public discussion and agitation of the subject in 1849 as there is now. There were no organizations backing the movement. The newspapers did not discuss the matter and the files of the Indianapolis Journal for months before the election seem to contain no mention of the matter. The editor, Dr. Defrees, afterwards said that many of the voters had never heard of the matter until they had the question put to them on election day by the Inspector of election."

ONE DRUNK.

Dave Fields pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication this morning before Mayor Bebout and was fined one dollar and costs. Fields was found in West Seventh street yesterday by Policeman Hardin. His fine was stayed.

AWAITING REPLY FROM CARRANZA

Little Hope Constitutionalists will

More Negotiations

CODE TELEGRAMS THE CAUSE

Believed to Have Resulted in the Dictator's Action in Calling off the Blockade.

(By United Press.)

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 8.—Long code telegrams exchanged between the Mexican delegates and General Huerta were believed here to have resulted in the Dictator's action in calling off his blockade in Tampico.

The American delegates were to confer with the mediators at eleven o'clock. The exact position of the Mexicans on the Tampico matter was to be explained at that time.

An official reply from General Carranza as to his participation in mediation is still awaited. There is little hope that the Constitutionalists will come in without further negotiations. The position of General Carranza is a puzzle to the mediators.

There have been numerous cable messages between Mexico City and Niagara Falls since the Antilla steamed for Tampico. These have been in cipher and the Mexican delegates have been unwilling to discuss the exchanges. They are believed to have related to this latest Tampico incident, which overshadowed every other issue, even the delay of General Carranza in declaring his attitude toward participation in the negotiations.

The Constitutionalists answer, which undoubtedly will be written by Rafael Zubaran in Washington on instructions from General Carranza, is not expected to reach here before Wednesday at the earliest. General Carranza is not due in Saltillo until tomorrow, and he will communicate further by telegraph with Mr. Zubaran before deciding finally on the character of the reply. It is not likely that it can be drafted and delivered for at least two or three days.

AN APRON FROCK AND ONE THAT SUGGESTS THE OLD TIME BASQUE

We are harking back to many quaint old fashioned touches this season, basques, flounces, panniers, and over-skirts of all sorts and descriptions.

The plain little dress shown in 8383 is developed in a figured cotton crepe; it has several distinguishing features in spite of being so simple. The front of the waist is cut in one with the hip yoke and forms a pocket on either side; a rather wide stitched belt of the material encircles the waist and holds the fullness in slightly. To copy this design in size 36, about five yards of 36-inch material is needed.

The quaint frock on the second figure, 8386-8399, is well suited to the plain and flowered taffetas in which it is here shown; the bodice with its distinctive waistcoat girdle and looped up peplum, has a large futurist rose on a dark blue ground. The flounced skirt is of plain blue taffetas.

To copy this design in size 36, 4 1/4 yards of 36-inch material is required for the blouse (8386) and 2 1/2 yards of 42-inch stuff for the skirt (8399).

A draped collar and an oddly arranged flounce make this young girl's dress (8380) unusual; here it is fashioned of plain white cotton crepe and relieved by a printed cotton. There is a set-in sleeve, and a three-piece skirt with just a suggestion of fullness at the top.

No. 8383—sizes 32 to 48.
No. 8386—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 8399—sizes 22 to 30.

Expected that Their Constitutional Convention Will be Referred to at Coming Conference.

TO BE HELD IN BLOOMINGTON

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Word received from all parts of the state indicates that the conference beginning here today on the question: "Shall A Constitutional Convention be Called in Indiana?" is attracting wide attention. The conference is held under the direction of the extension division of Indiana University. It will bring together for debate many of the authorities on legislation in Indiana and other states.

Because of the closely allied interests of Indiana and Ohio, it is believed that the experience of the latter state with its constitutional convention held recently will be referred to many times in the campaign for and against such a convention to be waged in Indiana before next November. Herbert S. Bigelow, president of the Ohio convention, will describe the results and conduct of that convention when he appears here Monday evening, June 8, in the conference.

Some of the achievements of the Ohio convention and some data to be related by Bigelow are of especial interest in Indiana at this time. Ohio adopted a new constitution with thirty-four amendments at the approximate cost of $300,000. One session of the Indiana legislature, consisting of sixty days, costs the state about $160,000. Delegates to the Ohio convention were elected on a non-partisan ballot at the regular election. The Indiana delegates, if the constitution is determined upon, will be elected on non-partisan ballots at a special election.

The convention lasted 5 months, principally because so many proposals were submitted, and because the delegates worked only three days a week, receiving $1,000 for the entire session.

As it will be in Indiana, the liquor issue was one of the big ones before the Ohio constitutional convention. The new Ohio constitution makes it possible to license saloons, which gives the state better control over them. It provided a state-wide civil service law, granted home rule to cities provided for the initiative and referendum.

It is declared that the convention was quite non partisan. Little mention was made of the politics of the delegates. They were chosen largely on the issue of the initiative and referendum. Those who favored the I. & R. won.

Dayton's new form of government is an example of the home rule provision. The city is run on a business basis entirely. Home rule will be an issue before the Indiana convention, if it is decided upon. Woman suffrage, state wide prohibition, the I. & R. and home rule for cities are apt to lead other issues in Indiana should a constitutional convention be called, it is believed by many here.

That Terrible Backache

from which so many women suffer is significant of organic trouble. It tells, with other symptoms, such as headaches, nervousness, and depression, that nature requires assistance. For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, has been the one effective remedy in such cases. It speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy normal condition.

MANY BIDS ARE SUBMITTED

Twenty-Two Contractors Want to do Paving at Knightstown.

There were twenty-two contractors who submitted bids for the paving of Main and Jefferson streets in Knightstown this week when estimates were received. The town council gave a preferential vote for paving with cement, and ten days will be allowed the property holders to petition or remonstrate as to the kind of material used.

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern interurban tracks along Main street are being torn out preparatory to relaying in concrete and paving between the rails.

Obituary.

Mrs. Lavina Parker Brown, daughter of John and Catherine Parker, was born in Rush County, Indiana, May 27th, 1843, and died May 24th, 1914, aged 70 years, 11 months and 27 days.

At a very early age she was bereft of both parents and was reared to young womanhood by an elder brother and sister and kind friends.

At the age of 21 she was married to Daniel Brown, February 24, 1864. This union endured for more than fifty years, they celebrated their golden wedding February 24, of this year.

To the union were born eight children, one of whom died in infancy. Of those reaching maturity there were four boys and three girls: Will L., John M., Mary Alice Harton, Fannie C. Brown, deceased, Nora D. Rector, Raymond D. and Clifford P. Brown.

In her father's family there were two girls and three boys, all of whom have preceded her to the Great Beyond.

She was a member of the Christian church with which organization she united in April 16, 1896. All of her brothers and sisters and family are members of the same faith.

Mrs. Brown's life was one of usefulness. She was an ardent champion of the right, a foe of the wrong. She was a person of unrelenting energy, a tender, loving mother, a devoted wife, a good neighbor, an enduring friend.

She gave her life to her family, her friends, her neighbors, who are today gathered about her bier and mourn her loss.

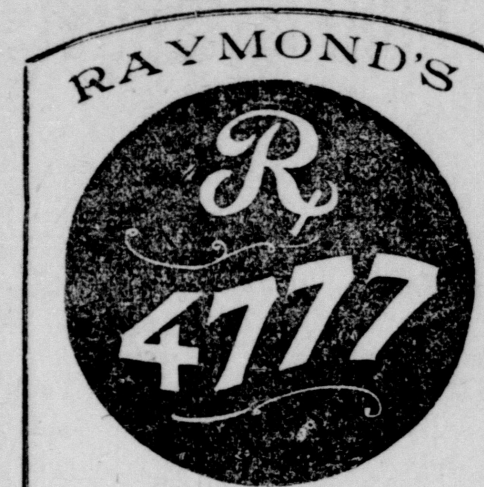

Farewell, dear mother, sweet thy rest, Weary, these years and worn with pain;

Farewell, 'till in some happier land We trust to meet again.

'Tis ours to miss thee all our years And tender memories of thee keep, Thine in the Lord to rest for so He giveth his beloved sleep. 7341 called through some excitement or other stimulus. Instance Beecher's experience before the mob in Liverpool. He said that all the arguments events and appeals he had ever heard or read on the slavery question passed before his mind in that hour as oratorical weapons and that he had but to reach out and seize them as they passed before him. Memory may be dormant but it is never dead. It is rational to assume that if the memory is quickened by stimulus such as fever, excitement and fear, it will be quickened by the great Judgment as never before. When the stimulus of the Judgment is applied to our memories, then our dead and forgotten past will pass before us in awful review, and fill us with terror of what is to happen to us, if we have not previous to this made our peace with God. But we can make our peace with God and thus avoid the terrors of the judgment. God has said, 'Their sins I will remember no more.' If he does not remember them he will not cause us to recall them. How much better, if on that day we can recall the memory of our personal salvation and of sins forgiven by God and forgotten by Him."

First Baptist

"The Brevity of Life" was the subject of the sermon by the S. G. Huntington from the text Psa. 89:47 "Remember how short my time is." He said in part:

"Ethan the author of the 89 Psalm was born under the reign of King David. He lived through the forty years of Solomon's reign and died under the latter part of the reign of Rehoboam, and therefore quite an old man when he wrote this Psalm. In this he gives us the last results of a long life of observation. During Ethan's life Israel has passed through many trials. It was under the reign of Rehoboam that Israel was divided into two sections, the ten tribes withdrawing from David's dynasty.

"It seemed at times that the purpose of God in Israel would utterly fail. Israel was prone to rebellion. Sharp disciplining was necessary and at this particular period God was disciplining his people most severely. Ethan felt this discipline keenly. He wished that it might pass and he be privileged to see the restoration of his people. He doubtless recognized the righteousness of the discipline, but reminds God of the frailty of man to endure, fearful that faith might fail and that he should die before enjoying any of the sweets of a more tranquil life.

"The picture is one of our personal experience. The storms of modern conflict often seem as if they would overwhelm us. We are too weak, we think, to bear any more. Then again, life at best is short, though unlike Ethan we are slow to wake up to a realization of the fact and sense it as we should.

"Nine hundred and sixty-nine years ago the life of Methuselah seems like a long time to live in this world, and it is, but what is 969 years as compared to eternity? But the longevity of man now is less than one twenty-fifth that of Methuselah's time. Evidently man's disregard for the laws of health and morality has brought the race down to the low ebb. In the patriarchal age children were never known to die a natural death before their parents. Now the grim reaper reaps everywhere indiscriminately and with the alertness of an impatient messenger. Thirty-five years, which is about the present average age of man, certainly reduces the length of his days to a very low figure. Surely life at such a low average is far too short to barter any part of it away in idleness and sin. Too much is at stake to let a few years allotted to us go by unimproved and uncultivated for God.

"Then again sin constantly increases the uncertainty of life, not excepting the more strong and vigorous among us. Labor is an honor and a blessing to man, but what about the man who becomes so ambitious for worldly gain that so much of his time is taken up with business and temporal affairs that he finds no scatter thistle down all over the town. Returning to him she reported the work well done. He then commanded her to go out and gather it up again. She exclaimed, 'That is utterly impossible.' 'Neither can you gather up the evil words you have spoken,' was his answer. It also harms the speaker. Pollock has written a poem which runs 'Slander, thou foulest whelp of sin! The man In whom this spirit entered was undone His tongue was set on fire of hell; his heart Was black as death; his legs were faint with haste To propagate the lie his soul had framed; His pillow was the peace of families Destroyed, the sigh of innocence reproached, Broken friendships, and the strife of brotherhood.' 'Instead of speaking slanderous words of another we should seek to offset the falsehood with the truth. And old woman hearing a man evil spoken of said, after all the others had heaped calumny on his head, 'Well he might be all you say he is, but anyhow he is a good whistler.' I like the spirit. TOWNSEND TO TALK AT THE CONVENTION

United States Senator From Michigan Will Address Republicans of Sixth District June 16.

FRESH FROM THE CONFLICT

Patrick J. Lynch, of Newcastle, Republican district chairman, has received word that United States Senator, Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, will speak at the Republican congressional convention at Cambridge City June 16.

Senator Townsend was a member of the house of representatives for ten years before he was elected to the senate and his capacity as a thinker and his ability as an orator have long been recognized in both legislative bodies. He comes fresh from the scene of conflict in the hall of legislation and will doubtless eloquently set forth his reasons for espousing the Republican principles at this critical time. A large delegation of Rush county Republicans will go to Cambridge City for the district convention.

(By United Press.)

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 8.—Justice Lamar said today that the American delegates to the mediation conference had submitted a complete plan for the pacification of Mexico. The mediators have also submitted a plan to the American delegates. The next step will be to submit the American plans to the Mexican delegates.

Hope increased today that Carranza may soon be represented here today. When Huerta rescinded his blockade order the only point that seriously threatened mediation was eliminated.

Samuel H. Murphy Brings Action Against T. H. I. & E. in the Henry Circuit Court.

HERE ON CHANGE OF VENUE

The $11,200 damage suit of Samuel H. Murphy against the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company, has reached the local court on a change of venue from Henry county. The case is the outgrowth of an accident in Straughns on August 19, 1911. The complaint states that on that date the automobile in which Mr. Murphy was riding was struck by an interurban car at the Pike street crossing in Straughns. It is alleged that the car was running about forty miles an hour in violation of the town ordinance, which provides for a speed of twelve miles an hour.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Murphy was permanently injured through the negligence of the defendant company. He sustained three broken ribs and numerous bruises. The complaint is in four paragraphs. The case has been set down for trial July 6

Emerson Ballard Extols Virtues of Lodges at Memorial Service at East Hill.

200 MARCH TO THE CEMETERY

Declares Fraternal Orders Are Prompted by a Spirit of Friendship, Love and Charity.

Approximately two hundred lodgesmen marched to East Hill cemetery yesterday afternoon, led by the Rushville band, for the annual joint memorial services of the Modern Woodmen, Odd Fellows, Red Men and Knights of Pythias lodges. The address was delivered by Emerson Ballard of Crawfordsville. A crowd of more than a thousand people gathered at the cemetery for the service. S. L. Trabue introduced Mr. Ballard.

Mr. Ballard extolled the virtues of fraternal orders, pointed to their value to mankind in general and showed that they are prompted by friendship, charity, love and fellowship.

"Once the strong destroyed the weak; widows and orphans were unprotected," he said. "Then fraternal orders came to their rescue. They protect the weak from the strong and offer a haven for widowed women and fatherless children."

"The lodge is the result of the social instinct of man. Aside from all other reasons, the lodge is of immense value from the social viewpoint. The intimate association in the lodge room throws the calcium light on the best attributes of men. It bates the tear on the rough cheek and shows a spark of love for mankind in the most hardened heart. It makes men more patient and forgiving."

"These four lodges set up their altar here today in the city of the dead to pay tribute to those gone to another land and to tune our feelings for a more kindly expression here on earth. The lodges are the fortress of the weak and unfortunate. Their brotherhood embraces all the virtues."

"No curtains separate them; they are divided by no creed. As impossible as it is to add entertainment to you on this occasion here this afternoon, just as impossible is it to exalt the work of death. Death has taken its score since last you met here, and just as you meet here year after year, so do these institutions exemplify the same law of repetition."

Touching on the lodges joining in the memorial service, he said: "Odd Fellowship still teaches the lessons of love and truth as it has since it was founded; the Knights of Pythias still repeat the story of Damon and Pythias, the wonderful story of sacrifice and brotherhood; the Red Men still cling to the historic freedom of the Red Man and bring to us day by day the lesson of friendship and charity; the Modern Woodmen teach us that the real good in life comes from making a life for another."

"These institutions batter down the rough side of men. To the outer world they may hide their insignia, their pass words and their ritual, but their deeds are open to the world. They are the kindergartens where men are taught the principle of brotherhood, which will in time become universal."

"We are here another year for the same purpose, but knowledge has nothing new to report and faith stands at the head of each new

TO BE UP FOR TRESPASSING

Omer Adams Will be Arranged Tonight on Big Four Charge.

Omer Adams has been arrested on the charge of malicious trespass and will be given a hearing tonight before Mayor Bobout. The charge against Adams was preferred by a Big Four detective, it being alleged that he smashed the panels in the door of the Seventh street flag shanty, the property of the Big Four railway. Adams claims that he was leaning up against the door and that the panels fell in. There is one witness, William Kinnell.

PLAYGROUND MAY BE STARTED HERE

Public Meeting of Women Will be Held at Library Next Monday to Consider Plans.

NOTHING TO HINDER IT NOW

A public meeting of Rushville women will be held a week from today at the public library in the court house to decide whether Rushville shall have a public playground for children this summer. The playground agitation was started last summer and since then it has been suggested that the question be allowed to rest for a time until the school board is in better financial condition. Then the board, it was stated, would employ one teacher for the year and his duties during the vacation would be to supervise the playground work.

Officers of the Rushville Civic Improvement and Social Service association were content with this, but this summer the agitation has been renewed again and officers of the association have called the meeting to consider the question. The opinions of a number of women have been obtained and they all want the project started at once. They feel that there would be no difficulty. The sentiment seems to be that there would be no trouble in obtaining plenty of room for a playground in the city park.

DEMAND $1,519.18 ATTORNEYS FEES

Will J. Henley and John L. Baker Want This Sum For Defending Owen L. Carr in Two Cases.

BOTH LAW SUITS SETTLED

William J. Henley and John L. Baker, of Indianapolis, a law firm known as Henley and Baker, have filed suit against Owen L. Carr, in the circuit court, alleging that Carr is indebted to them in the sum of $1,519.18 for services rendered as attorneys.

The complaint is in two paragraphs. It is asserted that Henley and Baker were employed by Carr to look after his interests in a case in which Timothy Ross was demanding approximately $37,000 of Carr and in a case which Carr and others were the defendants in a criminal action in the state of Illinois. It is alleged that through the efforts of the two attorneys both cases were settled and that their fee was $1,519.18, which is still unpaid.

WARMEST FIGHT IN LAST CONTEST

E. A. Billings Nominated For Commissioner From Middle District in Democratic Convention.

THREE BALLOTS TO DECIDE

David Price of Ripley Township Wins Other Nomination For Commissioner With Ease.

The Democratic county convention closed late Saturday afternoon with the nomination of a commissioner from the middle district. The fight for this place was the warmest of the convention and was decided after three ballots. Elijah A. Billings of Union township being the successful candidate.

The fight was a three cornered affair from start to finish. The other candidates were Sabert Offutt of Posey township and Henry Beckner of Jackson township. Billings gained on every ballot and finally won out on the third. On the first ballot the vote was: Beckner 70; Offutt 89, and Billings 109. The second ballot showed a gain of ten for Billings and was as follows: Beckner 62, Offutt 87 and Billings 119. The vote on the third and deciding ballot was, Beckner 35, Offutt 95 and Billings 138.

The nominee for commissioner of the northern district is David Price of Ripley township. Mr. Price was opposed by Bert Collee of Center township. Only one ballot was necessary to decide the contest. The vote was Collee 86 and Price 181.

The complete ticket as nominated is as follows: John D. Megee, judge; Donald Smith, prosecutor; Oliver Cook, treasurer; Voorhees Cavitt, sheriff; Thomas C. Gray, recorder; Adolphus Cameron, surveyor; James Tarplee, assessor; David Price, commissioner northern district; Elijah Billings, commissioner middle district.

The convention furnished several surprises. It was conceded for several days before the convention that Cary Jackson, of this city, would be beaten for the nomination for county treasurer. The fight was expected to be closer than it was and the strength of Oliver Cook, Jackson's opponent, was a surprise. The vote was Cook 162 and Jackson 96.

The closest fight was between Don Casady and Thomas Gray for recorder. Mr. Gray won out by ten votes, the total being 139 to 129. Eli Collins withdrew his name just as the vote was being taken for the nomination for assessor and James Tarplee was nominated by acclamation.

DON'T WANT ON TICKET.

Logansport, Ind., June 8.—John C. Terry, a citizen of Delbert township, who was nominated on the Progressive county ticket some time ago, in a written statement says that his name was placed on the Progressive ticket against his knowledge and that he will not be a candidate on that ticket but will support the Republican cause.

SLANDER IS A PUBLIC WRONG

Rev. C. M. Yocum Speaks on "Evils of Tongue" at Main Street Christian Church Sunday.

SERMONS BY OTHER PASTORS

Rev. S. G. Huntington Pleads For Same Enthusiasm That Fills Ball Park Sunday Afternoon.

Pastors discussed various subjects in the Rushville pulpits Sunday. The Rev. S. G. Huntington of the First Baptist church, last night in talking on the subject, "The Brevity of Life," pleaded for enthusiasm in church work which will fill the churches Sunday morning like the ball park is filled Sunday afternoon. The Rev. C. M. Yocum at the Main Street Christian church spoke of the evils of slander and at the St. Paul's M. E. church the Rev. A. D. Batchelor reached the forth of the series of Sunday evening sermons on conscience.

St. Paul's M. E.

Last night at the Methodist Church Rev. Batchelor preached the fourth sermon in a series on the conscience, the subject being, "Conscience and Memory." The text was Luke 16:25, "Son remember." He said in part: "These words were spoken to a rich man in hell. He was in torment. He was in torment because he remembered. It is the recollection of wrong deeds which brings pain to the conscience. The incident before us implies the survival of memory after death. If memory is indestructible so also is conscience, for memory causes conscience to work. If conscience never dies then eternal torment is a possibility."

"It was the opinion of Lord Bacon that nothing in one's antecedent history was ever forgotten. This would seem to be true. Things which we thought we had forgotten are ever and anon recalled by circumstance and condition. Then on the Judgment Day God will be able to remind us of deeds stored in our memories. And this memory will be a fire in our souls. In his psychology Prof. James tells us that 'the effective consciousness is the after-consciousness' and then quotes Richet as saying that he would prefer to suffer any pain, however acute than to endure the reverberation or recall of pain. It is the reverberation of memory that makes one's hell. God will say, 'Son remember' and the worst of it is we will remember."

"Memory then is never lost, and conscience survives together with it. There is proof of this in the law of mental association. The thoughts of our minds are associated in a continuous chain. There is a connection then between all our personal experiences. Under such a law it is impossible that any of them should be irretrievably lost. It only requires the right suggestion to start in motion a train of thoughts which will recall a certain experience. Who better knows our thoughts and the way by which they are correlated than God? In that last day therefore he can set in motion that association of thoughts which will recall our good and evil deeds. When he shall say to us, 'Son remember' we will remember and feel the sting of remorse for past evil deeds. We cannot control our memories. Things are resurrected in the consciousness through the law of association whether we will it or not."

"The perpetuity of memory may be seen from examples of resuscitation through stimulus. Things presumably forgotten are suddenly re-

Huerta Countermands Order to Blockade Port of Tampico to Prevent Landing of Arms

EVIDENTLY FEARS U. S. NAVY

(By United Press.)

Mexico City, June 8.—The Huerta government today countermanded the order for a blockade of Tampico. This action by Huerta is believed to have followed the receipt of word that the United States would not permit the blockade. The Huerta government realized the utter futility of opposing the American naval force.

LAST OF QUARTET ARRAIGNED TODAY

Thomas Keaton Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Dynamiting Fish and Furnishes Bond of $350.

OTHER ACTS IN COURT TODAY

Thomas (Muldoon) Keaton, was arraigned in the circuit court this morning on the charge of using dynamite to kill fish and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on bond in the sum of $350 furnished by Michael O'Riley. The affidavit against Keaton filed at the same time similar charges were preferred against John Toolen, Hubert Mosier and Greely Perkins. All the men are out on bond.

A motion for a change of venue was filed this morning in the case of Larry B. Harris against the P. C. C. & St. L. railway by the defendant. Harris demands damages in the sum of $600. Judge Megee has not yet taken any action on the motion.

Judge Megee found for the plaintiff in the suit of Florence Brown against John and Jessie Ertle in the sum of $258.51. The suit was on notes and to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $300.

RELIEF IS FELT IN WASHINGTON

Sudden Change of Front by Huerta Makes it Unnecessary for U. S. to Show Its Hand.

PROTOCOL IS NOW IN VIEW

Believes Dictator Will Soon Cease to be Potent Factor in Affairs of Mexican Republic.

BY JOHN E. NEVIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 8.—Mexican skies were clearing this afternoon and distrustful jubilation was discernable at the state department and the White House. The end of Huerta was believed to be in sight. His backdown the blockade of Tampico was accepted as his final word in opposition. The administration believed that he sees the handwriting on the wall and will soon cease to be a potent factor in the affairs of the Mexican republic.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan told the president of the overnight developments and it was agreed that the situation was much improved. Carranza is expected to gain his point of participation in the Niagara Falls mediation conference without having to agree to an armistice. If he does diplomats here assert his representative will outline the protocol which will be signed settling definitely the Mexican dissension.

"The situation is very encouraging," said Secretary Bryan this afternoon.

Relief was shown by officials when they learned Huerta had backed down from his plan to blockade Tampico. This change will make it unnecessary for the United States to show its hand, apparently in favor of the Constitutionalists. The Spanish ambassador today officially notified the state department of Huerta's changed position. He said Huerta gave no reason for the sudden change.

The A. B. C. mediators have been bringing pressure to bear on the Huerta commissioners to prevent Huerta raising an obstacle that would in any way injure mediation. High government chief were inclined to accept this to mean that the mediators will allow Carranza to enter their conference.

If they do so all possible contention will be eliminated and it will be possible to put through a protocol which can have the support of a united Mexico. At least this was the way the White House viewed the situation today.

It Doesn't Pay

It is human nature to resent having something forced on you that you do not want.

The customer who asks for a branded article by name has a right to that article.

"Something just as good" naturally raises a suspicion against the storekeeper.

The customer may be persuaded to take the suggested article, but it will have to be something mighty good to entirely remove all suspicion from the mind.

The store that gets reputation for chronically offering "just as good" loses in the long run.

Grass Stimulant Necessary to Keep Lawn in Good Condition

In the late spring, about a month after active grass growth has commenced on the lawn, it is desirable to apply a grass stimulant to keep the lawn in first-class condition. Nitrate of soda is a good fertilizer and will make the grass grow thickly with a rich dark green color that will show itself promptly after the application. The landscape gardener of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advises that those who use nitrate of soda should apply it at the rate of 50 pounds per acre once a month throughout the summer beginning about the middle of May in the latitude of Washington, D. C.

The nitrate of soda should be applied just before a rain or a sprinkling with the hose. Under ordinary conditions it will keep the lawn a vivid green during the period when the vitality of the plant is low. The application of this fertilizer combined with careful watering (described in a previous article) will prevent the parched appearance of the lawn during the dry hot summer season.

When nitrate is applied during any dry period it should be used carefully. It can, however, be applied at any time if the nitrate of soda is powdered up fine before using but it is safest to dissolve it in water. Because of a generally prevailing fear that this fertilizer may ruin a lawn if used carelessly, the Department has been experimenting to see just how much nitrate of soda would have to be used in order to kill grass. These experiments seem to show that nitrate of soda can be used fairly extensively without causing injury, for attempts to kill grass with it were unsuccessful except when such large quantities as 400 pounds to an acre were used.

Although fertilization is a splendid thing for the upkeep of a lawn it will never entirely make up for a lawn soil that was poorly prepared in the beginning. It is only when a lawn soil is properly prepared in the first place and enriched with stable manure, lime, and bone phosphate that a lawn may be maintained in the best condition.

Unrotted stable manure should be kept away from a lawn at all times, the opinion of many to the contrary notwithstanding. Stable manure contains weed seeds and particularly after the early growth of grass these weed seeds will be encouraged to sprout, for at this time the grass is weakened by its spring growth and the weeds have additional impetus to spread. A weed has been defined as a "plant out of place." Weeds are certainly out of place on a well-kept lawn. Fertilizing materials have a great advantage over stable manure as they contain no weed seeds.

There are other fertilizers besides nitrate of soda that are most valuable for the lawn but their use is more especially adapted to the fall. Later the Department will issue advice regarding the application of such materials as ground bone, phosphate rock, potash, dried blood, fish scrap, and sterilized sheep manure. The dissolved rock in particular should not be used in the spring.

BIG CROWD HEARS COUNTY AGENT TALK

W. A. Butler Addresses Interested Audience at New Fairview School House Concerning Work.

HE SHOWS LANTERN SLIDES

A good sized crowd gathered in the gymnasium of the new Fairview school building Friday night, to hear W. A. Butler tell of his work as county agricultural agent in Madison county. Mr. Butler plainly is man of much information, and takes his work seriously. He showed the audience a series of lantern slides, revealing conditions in orchards, among field crops and elsewhere about farms in his own territory. These slides, too, gave his audience a better understanding than they had before of the legitimate work of an agent. He is the expert, the consulting doctor of stock and crops. It is his business to go to the depths of problems which the ordinary farmer only sees in their solution. The lecture was informative, interesting and well calculated to show that the county agent, far from being the idle creature of an inexperienced legislature, is really an important servant.

LOSES MILLION DOLLARS A MONTH

Pig Iron Industry in This Country Feels Effects of New Tariff, According to Report.

MANY FURNACES SHUT DOWN

Thousands of Employees Suffer Cut in Wages and More Reductions Are Yet to Come.

Washington, June 8.—A million dollars a month is what the pig iron industry in this country is losing, according to the report of John A. Penton, of Cleveland, Secretary of the American Pig Iron Association. Many furnaces have shut down, he says, and plants are in the hands of receivers. Thousands of employees have suffered a cut in wages due to this condition and more reductions are to follow.

"We have now confronting us one more hardship," says Mr. Penton, in his report, "in the shape of the knowledge that foreign countries, owing to the abolition of our tariff and because of their lower cost of production are going to be able to ship, and are even right now shipping and arranging to ship quantities of foreign pig iron into our country when the whole industry here is operating at a loss of millions of dollars a month."

The pig iron industry is not the only example of the effect of the Democratic tariff law. Employers and employees in industrial establishments the country over are feeling the force of a general depression. Readjustments made necessary by the new tariff law have caused a general slowing down of business. Reports from many industries indicate a business depression which have thrown thousands of men out of employment.

That the unemployed are holding the present Democratic administration responsible for present conditions is shown by the overwhelming Republican victory in the seventh New Jersey Congressional District, not long ago. In that district, Republicans made the tariff the issue and the Democrats accepted it. Evidently the unemployed of that district hold President Wilson and the administration's supporters responsible for bad industrial conditions for the President's popularity in his home State could not withstand opposition to the administration's policies.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Rushville Citizens Testify For the Public Benefit

A truthful statement of a Rushville citizen, given in his own words should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ill, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Rushville citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

J. F. Champion, 618 W. Fifth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Some years ago I suffered a great deal from backache and kidney weakness. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a supply from Johnson & Co.'s Drug store. They gave me relief. I still think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to confirm what one of my family said about them some years ago."

MARGUERITE RISSER.

SCENE FROM "THE SWAMP FOX."

FRANCIS MARION, "The Swamp Fox," is a new three part story of the Revolution just released. Stirring action and splendid staging make this picture a success, while the love theme which runs through it rounds out the story perfectly.

Marguerite Rissler is a charming young lady who can act equally well in drama, comedy or farce and has many devotees wherever the movies are shown.

Dramatic parts are the forte of Charlotte Burton, a popular young actress. Although Miss Burton's face fits her for ingenue parts she prefers to interpret character with more depth of feeling than is usually allotted the young girl on the screen. On that account Miss Burton has endeared herself to thousands of photo play fans as an emotional actress.

The ranks of the good looking juveniles have been strengthened by the addition to the Western roster of V. A. Van Antwerp, who has speedily made himself at home at Niles, Cal.

Cyril Chadwick, long associated with Dukes and Norworth and "The Eternal Waltz," in which he starred with Mabel Berra, has signed a contract to appear in a series of "Silly Ass" comedies from the pen of Lloyd Lonergan.

"Music Hath Charms—Not" introduces band practice in the boarding house which inspires boisterousness on the part of the other guests, and the janitor becomes a "mark."

"His Sob Story" is a two part film just released.

While looking for work John goes to the assistance of a poor woman and finds in her hand bag a child's photograph. He gets an idea for a good newspaper story. The editor to whom he presents it turns white at the details of the story—it was his own wife.

"Cigar Butts," directed by Albert Hale, is an entertaining little story related by a tramp in the park. In the story he poses as a secret service detective, who tracks down a band of diamond smugglers, and the way they are apprehended makes a thrilling and absorbing play.

MISSOURI COURT SUSTAINED TODAY

Supreme Court Upholds Ouster of Harvester Trust; Virtually Declaring it is Monopoly.

ORIGINALLY FINED $50,000

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 8.—The supreme court today sustained the Missouri ouster of the "Harvester trust."

Both the anti-trust laws of Missouri and the right of the "Harvester Trust" to do business in Missouri were at stake in the decision today. It was the culmination of a long fight by Missouri to oust the "trust" from doing business there by revoking its charter. The Missouri Supreme Court found the "trust" guilty of violating the state anti-trust laws, revoked its charter and originally fined it $50,000. This fine was afterward reduced to $25,000. The Trust was given a chance to modify its sales methods, but appealed instead to the high court, declining to compromise with the state.

The case decided today was originally begun against the Milwaukee Harvester Company, the selling agent in Missouri of the International company. The Wisconsin corporation took out a Missouri license, which was cancelled by the Missouri courts. The "trust" contended that its selling plan was not a monopoly, but was planned to furnish implements to consumers at the lowest possible prices. The state admitted that price increases were not the principal cause of complaint, but found the corporation guilty of stifling competition and crushing competitors.

SAYS HE CAN SEE PEOPLE HE TALKS TO OVER PHONE

English Scientist Gives Demonstration of a Most Remarkable Apparatus.

"Seeing by wire" is the startling suggestion of Dr. A. M. Low, a well known British scientific investigator.

Dr. Low in London gave a demonstration for the first time in public of a new invention whereby he claims that it is possible "for persons using a telephone to see each other at the same time."

The New York Times quotes Dr. Low as follows:

"It may be remarkable, but in reality it is quite simple, and I am sure that some day—perhaps not in our time, but some day—people on a liner at sea will be able to witness a spectacle taking place on shore, transmitted to the ship by wireless in the way news is now sent."

Dr. Low explained that he had been experimenting with the reproduction of pictures at a distance electrically for five years. He had been successful already over a distance of four miles, using ordinary telephonic and telegraphic apparatus.

The apparatus which Dr. Low has invented is a screen consisting of a large number of cells of selenium, over which a ruler is moved rapidly by a small motor, worked with a current of high frequency and of about 50,000 volts pressure. It is fitted in a box at the side of a telephone. The receiver at the other end is made up of a series of telephone slabs of steel, through which the light passes.

Another prediction Dr. Low ventured was that one of his machines could be used for the study of military operations taking place at a distance. This, he said, would be introducing a new complication into warfare—"seeing what the enemy is doing on the other side of a mountain."

It is estimated that there are approximately one million automobiles in use in this country, and that they consume $100,000,000 worth of gasoline in a year.

Simple indeed is the working of this lovely centerpiece for it is easily done in outline-stitch. This stitch needs no padding, as does the scalloped edge should be done in heavily padded buttonhole-stitch. This design will require about 15 skeins of No. 25 working cotton. These sprays may be cut apart and used on bureau-scarfs, sideboard-covers and tray-cloths of linen, lawn or batiste. Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

REPUBLICAN CALL

For Congressional Convention of the Sixth District.

The Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District of Indiana will meet in delegate convention in Cambridge on June 16, 1914, at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Congress for the Sixth Congressional District. The total number of delegates to said convention will be 100, apportioned to the several counties, comprising the district, as follows:

Payette	11
Franklin	7
Hancock	10
Elkhart	18
Elkhart	18
Shelby	15
Union	5

By order of Republican State Committee,
P. J. LYNCH,
District Chairman.

Pay Us a Visit.

Rushville this week will celebrate its first Big Wednesday of the season. It is expecting a big crowd of visitors and it behooves all Rushville citizens, the same as the merchants, to place their best foot forward. Rushville's bargain days, original here, have created attention elsewhere. They are worthy the effort of all persons to make them the best possible.

Even if visitors have no intention of taking advantage of the special trade offers that are made for this day, they may at least be the guests of Rushville and accept our hospitality. We are going to give our guests the best we have and we should make them know it.

While here, the Republican invites all people from out of the city or any others who may be interested to visit and inspect the Republican company's equipment. We pride ourselves on our up-to-dateness, for in that alone can we give the best service.

The building of a newspaper of this day and age is practically a sealed book to the uninitiated. The demands of the age are for greater and more rapid service. The Republican is attempting to keep stride with the demands of the times. Machinery has undergone a complete change in a decade. Three men are doing the work of ten now and yet the Republican employs more persons than it ever has in its history.

The Republican now uses two type-setting machines for composition. It recently installed a web-perfecting printing press which prints from a roll delivering a folded paper printed on both sides at the same operation. Furthermore, the Republican has an independent leased wire service which keeps it in touch with the important happenings all over the world. The public is cordially invited to inspect all of these improvements.

Foreign Trade.

The National Foreign Trade Convention, representing a hundred leading commercial and industrial organizations of the country, has just come to a close in the National Capital. This suggests a timely inquiry: Which side of the foreign trade ledger is America going to be on—the credit or the debit side? For years, under a Republican protective tariff law, the United States has been on the Credit side, with plenty of gold piling up in our vaults instead of in foreign banks.

But now!

Reports show that America is sending a great deal of gold across the seas. Whether this gold is going to pay for the heavy imports under the Democratic tariff law, we must, with perfect fairness, say is yet to be seen. But this is true right now: We have plenty of gold here in America and the reason we have plenty of gold is because we have been selling American-made goods to Europe and taking their money for it. Now, under the Wilson tariff, we are buying foreign goods and paying for them in American gold. And, with the tariff as it has been fixed by the Democratic Party, we can no longer expect to cancel the charges for American-made goods.

Lincoln said: "I do not know about the tariff, but I do know if you buy a ton of steel rails abroad you have the rails and the foreigner has the money; if you make a ton of rails here, you have both the rails and the money."

So, while we are talking about extending our foreign trade, we may expect to hear further reports that our gold is being shipped to Europe. When we hear these reports, perhaps it will be just as well to bear these facts in mind.

He inquired of a corner policeman (yes, they have 'em on busy days) how he could find the way to the southern edge of New York state. The policeman looked amazed. Beautiful pity for the deluded stranger radiated from his countenance.

"There may be a New York town," replied the policeman, "but there ain't no New York state."

GIVES EARLY STATE HISTORY

Prof. James A. Woodburn of Indiana University Outlines Record of Two Indiana Conventions.

FOR MAKING CONSTITUTION

First One Formed in 19 Days and Trouble Was Not Taken to Submit It For Ratification.

FAVORS CONSTITUTION.

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Hugh Th. Miller, Republican candidate for the United States senate, this afternoon declared himself in favor of the state constitutional convention at the conference here on that subject. He urged an affirmative vote on the proposition at the polls next fall.

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Professor James A. Woodburn of Indiana University, addressing the conference on the constitutional convention, told the history of the constitution making in Indiana. He outlined briefly the record of the two conventions of 1816 and 1851. He gave an account of the passing of the old territorial government for that of statehood. The convention at Corydon in 1816 was composed of forty-three delegates from only thirteen counties. The delegates met under the great elm early in June just ninety-eight years ago, he said, in the little town in Harrison county which was then the capital of the territory and which remained the capital of the State for eight years to come. He said:

"The enabling act of congress authorizing the people of Indiana Territory to have a convention to frame an instrument of State government was passed in April; the delegates to the convention were elected in May; they went in June, and these delegates completed their important work of forming a state constitution in nineteen days. They did not take the time to submit the constitution to the people for ratification. There seemed to be some hurry in order to get the State into the Union for the fall session of Congress."

"The new constitution had not long been in operation until a demand arose for changes," he said. "The supreme court judges were nominated by the Governor and quarrels arose between these departments over the personal appointments. A popular demand arose for a new convention. In January the legislature passed an act submitted the question of a new convention to a referendum of the voters. The question, Convention, or no Convention, was voted on. There were 81,000 votes for the convention and 57,000 against it. More than 10,000 voters who voted for Governor failed to express themselves on the convention and it lost."

"There was not as much public discussion and agitation of the subject in 1849 as there is now. There were no organizations backing the movement. The newspapers did not discuss the matter and the files of the Indianapolis Journal for months before the election seem to contain no mention of the matter. The editor, Dr. DeFrees, afterwards said that many of the voters had never heard of the matter until they had the question put to them on election day by the Inspector of election."

ONE DRUNK.

Dave Fields pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication this morning before Mayor Belmont and was fined one dollar and costs. Fields was found in West Seventh street yesterday by Policeman Hardin. His fine was stayed.

AWAITING REPLY FROM CARRANZA

Little Hope Constitutionalists will Come into Mediation Without More Negotiations

CODE TELEGRAMS THE CAUSE

Believed to Have Resulted in the Dictator's Action in Calling off the Blockade.

(By United Press.)

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 8.—Long code telegrams exchanged between the Mexican delegates and General Huerta were believed here to have resulted in the Dictator's action in calling off his blockade in Tampico.

The American delegates were to confer with the mediators at eleven o'clock. The exact position of the Mexicans on the Tampico matter was to be explained at that time.

An official reply from General Carranza as to his participation in mediation is still awaited. There is little hope that the Constitutionalists will come in without further negotiations. The position of General Carranza is a puzzle to the mediators.

There have been numerous cable messages between Mexico City and Niagara Falls since the Antilla steamed for Tampico. These have been in cipher and the Mexican delegates have been unwilling to discuss the exchanges. They are believed to have related to this latest Tampico incident, which overshadowed every other issue, even the delay of General Carranza in declaring his attitude toward participation in the negotiations.

The Constitutionalists answer, which undoubtedly will be written by Rafael Zubaran in Washington on instructions from General Carranza, is not expected to reach here before Wednesday at the earliest. General Carranza is not due in Saltillo until tomorrow, and he will communicate further by telegraph with Mr. Zubaran before deciding finally on the character of the reply. It is not likely that it can be drafted and delivered for at least two or three days.

GAME WAS WEIRD AFFAIR

Heavy Hitting and Loose Fielding by Both Teams Disgusts Fans—
Big Doings in Third.

Twenty-three hits, five for extra bases, and nineteen errors were the "features" of an alleged ball game yesterday afternoon which Connersville won by the score of 15 to 6. It was an awful affair and the only pity is that it did not rain along about the fourth inning and stop the slaughter. The game was absolutely listless and a majority of the fans left at the end of the third inning after Connersville had scored six runs.

Connersville Had a Parade in the Third Inning.

The Rushville infield, especially third base went in the air and then Patterson either quit or could do no better. In fact the whole team seemed to lay down and it would be hard to pick where the most yellow was displayed.

But it would have been useless trying to fight against the odds that Rushville faced after the third inning. It was a shame to make players run so much on a hot day and the Connersville team should have taken pity on the Rushville team. Of the twenty-three hits, Rushville gathered ten and Connersville thirteen. In the error department Connersville made nine and Rushville ten. Yes, it was some game.

Rushville got a good start and scored one in the first while Connersville was held blank. In the third the big blow off came. The doings started with Eli Cates and when the side was retired Cates had batted twice and six runs had counted. Three hits, four errors and two sacrifice hits were responsible for the runs. Patterson went to pieces when the team behind him went up in the air.

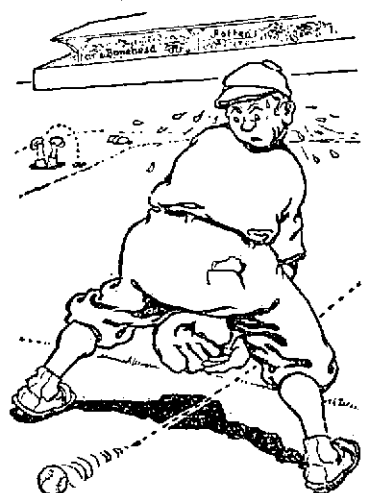

Connersville did not put up a much better game in the field and pulled several bones. The only difference was that Connersville fought with men on bases while Rushville went to pieces. About the most valuable addition to the Rushville team is Walter Quiesser in right field. Quiesser was the batting kid getting a home run, a double and a

WILL ALSO CAPTAIN TEAM

Disgusted with the way the Rushville team performed against the Connersville team yesterday, Manager Fisher is determined to have a real ball team regardless of the cost. A general shake up is now in order. Fisher is pretty sore over the way the team performed and the first place he will start is with the battery. A new pitcher and catcher will be secured, according to Fisher. He will get Laddy Link and Carl Miller for the battery if plans do not miscarry.

Miller has been catching for the Indianapolis Reserves and wants to come here. The fans will hate to see Marten go but because of his injuries Fisher believes he would strengthen the team with an able bodied catcher. Miller is a slugger. Johannes will be placed at third and Spellman at short. Walter Quiesser will captain the team and play second base. O'Dell will be placed in right field, Tompkins will remain in center and Pierce in left. Bridges will also remain on the team.

ENDURANCE RUN GOES THROUGH HERE

Nineteen Motorcycles on Three Days
Trip Over State Were to Visit
Rushville Late Today.

CHECKED BY JAMES FOLEY

Nineteen entries in the second annual endurance run of the Indianapolis branch of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, which started from Indianapolis Saturday, was due to pass through this city this afternoon at 3:25 o'clock. The program called for no extended stop, but each man was checked by James Foley at Worth's garage. This system is used in each city through which the cyclists pass. Then the whole route can be checked and it will be possible to ascertain whether all of the entries have followed the prescribed route.

The motorcyclists were to come here from Connersville and to go to Shelbyville, thence to Franklin and on into Indianapolis tonight when the run will end. They headed south to Linton the first day and came back up the western part of the state to the extreme north as far as South Bend. When the trip is completed, they will have covered 663 miles. The route called for 231 miles Saturday, 230 yesterday and 202 today.

ARLINGTON LOST.

The Arlington Red Sox went down in defeat yesterday at Shelbyville before the Shelbyville Reserves, the score being 4 to 1. Arlington escaped a shut-out by scoring one run in the ninth. The score by innings:

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

AN APRON FROCK AND ONE THAT SUGGESTS THE OLD TIME BASQUE

We are harking back to many quaint, old-fashioned touches this season, basques, flounces, panniers, and over-skirts of all sorts and descriptions.

The plain little dress shown in 8383 is developed in a figured cotton crepe; it has several distinguishing features in spite of being so simple. The front of the waist is cut in one with the hip yoke and forms a pocket on either side; a rather wide stitched belt of the material encircles the waist and holds the fullness in slightly. To copy this design in size 36, about five yards of 36-inch material is needed.

The quaint frock on the second figure, 8386-8399, is well suited to the plain and flowered taffetas in which it is here shown; the bodice with its distinctive waistcoat girder and looped up peplum,

MAY TAKE OHIO AS AN EXAMPLE

Expected that Their Constitutional Convention Will be Referred to at Coming Conference.

TO BE HELD IN BLOOMINGTON

(By United Press.)
Bloomington, Ind., June 8.—Word received from all parts of the state indicates that the conference beginning here today on the question: "Shall A Constitutional Convention be Called in Indiana?" is attracting wide attention. The conference is held under the direction of the extension division of Indiana University. It will bring together for debate many of the authorities on legislation in Indiana and other states.

Because of the closely allied interests of Indiana and Ohio, it is believed that the experience of the latter state with its constitutional convention held recently will be referred to many times in the campaign for and against such a convention to be waged in Indiana before next November. Herbert S. Bigelow, president of the Ohio convention, will describe the results and conduct of that convention when he appears here Monday evening, June 8, in the conference.

Some of the achievements of the Ohio convention and some data to be related by Bigelow are of especial interest in Indiana at this time. Ohio adopted a new constitution with thirty-four amendments at the approximate cost of $300,000. One session of the Indiana legislature, consisting of sixty days, costs the state about $160,000. Delegates to the Ohio convention were elected on a non-partisan ballot at the regular election. The Indiana delegates, if the constitution is determined upon, will be elected on non-partisan ballots at a special election.

The convention lasted 5 months, principally because so many proposals were submitted, and because the delegates worked only three days a week, receiving $1,000 for the entire session.

As it will be in Indiana, the liquor issue was one of the big ones before the Ohio constitutional convention. The new Ohio constitution makes it possible to license saloons, which gives the state better control over them. It provided a state-wide civil service law, granted home rule to cities provided for the initiative and referendum.

It is declared that the convention was quite non-partisan. Little mention was made of the politics of the delegates. They were chosen largely on the issue of the initiative and referendum. Those who favored the I. & R. won.

Dayton's new form of government is an example of the home rule provision. The city is run on a business basis entirely. Home rule will be an issue before the Indiana convention, if it is decided upon. Woman suffrage, state wide prohibition, the I. & R. and home rule for cities are apt to lead other issues in Indiana should a constitutional convention be called, it is believed by many here.

That Terrible Backache

from which so many women suffer is significant of organic trouble. It tells, with other symptoms, such as headaches, nervousness, and depression, that nature requires assistance. For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, has been the one effective remedy in such cases. It speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy normal condition.

MANY BIDS ARE SUBMITTED

Twenty- Two Contractors Want to do Paving at Knightstown.

There were twenty-two contractors who submitted bids for the paving of Main and Jefferson streets in Knightstown this week when estimates were received. The town council gave a preferential vote for paving with cement, and ten days will be allowed the property holders to petition or remonstrate as to the kind of material used.

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern interurban tracks along Main street are being torn out preparatory to relaying in concrete and paving between the rails.

Obituary.

Mrs. Lavina Parker Brown, daughter of John and Catherine Parker, was born in Rush County, Indiana, May 27th, 1843, and died May 24th, 1914, aged 70 years, 11 months and 27 days.

At a very early age she was bereft of both parents and was reared to young womanhood by an elder brother and sister and kind friends.

At the age of 21 she was married to Daniel Brown, February 21, 1864. This union endured for more than fifty years, they celebrated their golden wedding February 21, of this year.

To the union were born eight children, one of whom died in infancy. Of those reaching maturity there were four boys and three girls: Will L., John M., Mary Alice Harton, Fannie C. Brown, deceased, Nora D. Rector, Raymond D. and Clifford P. Brown.

In her father's family there were two girls and three boys, all of whom have preceded her to the Great Beyond.

She was a member of the Christian church with which organization she united in April 16, 1896. All of her brothers and sisters and family are members of the same faith.

Mrs. Brown's life was one of usefulness. She was an ardent champion of the right, a foe of the wrong. She was a person of unremitting energy, a tender, loving mother, a devoted wife, a good neighbor, an enduring friend.

She gave her life to her family, her friends, her neighbors, who are to-day gathered about her bier and mourn her loss.

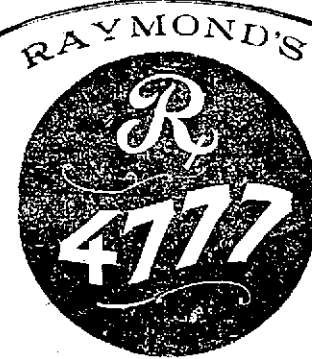

Farewell, dear mother, sweet thy rest, Weary, these years and worn with pain;

Farewell, 'till in some happier land We trust to meet again.

'Tis ours to miss thee all our years And tender memories of thee keep, Thine in the Lord to rest for so He giveth his beloved sleep.

called through some excitement or other stimulus. Instance Beecher's experience before the mob in Liverpool. He said that all the arguments events and appeals he had ever heard or read on the slavery question passed before his mind in that hour as oratorical weapons and that he had but to reach out and seize them as they passed before him. Memory may be dormant but it is never dead. It is rational to assume that if the memory is quickened by stimulus such as fever, excitement and fear, it will be quickened by the great Judgment as never before. When the stimulus of the Judgment is applied to our memories, then our dead and forgotten past will pass before us in awful review, and fill us with terror of what is to happen to us, if we have not previous to this made our peace with God. But we can make our peace with God and thus avoid the terrors of the judgment. God has said, "Their sins I will remember no more." If he does not remember them he will not cause us to recall them. How much better, if on that day we can recall the memory of our personal salvation and of sins forgiven by God and forgotten by Him."

First Baptist

"The Brevity of Life" was the subject of the sermon by the S. G. Huntington from the text Psa. 89:47 "Remember how short my time is." He said in part:

"Ethan the author of the 89 Psalm was born under the reign of King David. He lived through the forty years of Solomon's reign and died under the latter part of the reign of Rehoboam, and therefore quite an old man when he wrote this Psalm. In this he gives us the last results of a long life of observation. During Ethan's life Israel has passed through many trials. It was under the reign of Rehoboam that Israel was divided into two sections, the ten tribes withdrawing from David's dynasty.

"It seemed at times that the purpose of God in Israel would utterly fail. Israel was prone to rebellion. Sharp disciplining was necessary and at this particular period God was disciplining his people most severely. Ethan felt this discipline keenly. He wished that it might pass and he be privileged to see the restoration of his people. He doubtless recognized the righteousness of the discipline, but reminds God of the frailty of man to endure, fearful that faith might fail and that he should die before enjoying any of the sweets of a more tranquil life.

"The picture is one of our personal experience. The storms of modern conflict often seem as if they would overwhelm us. We are too weak, we think, to bear any more. Then again, life at best is short, though unlike Ethan we are slow to wake up to a realization of the fact and sense it as we should.

"Nine hundred and sixty-nine years ago the life of Methuselah seems like a long time to live in this world, and it is, but what is 969 years as compared to eternity? But the longevity of man now is less than one twenty-fifth that of Methuselah's time. Evidently man's disregard for the laws of health and morality has brought the race down to the low ebb. In the patriarchal age children were never known to die a natural death before their parents. Now the grim reaper reaps everywhere indiscriminately and with the alertness of an impatient messenger. Thirty-five years, which is about the present average age of man, certainly reduces the length of his days to a very low figure. Surely life at such a low average is far too short to barter any part of it away in idleness and sin. Too much is at stake to let a few years allotted to us go by unimproved and uncultivated for God.

"Then again sin constantly increases the uncertainty of life, not excepting the more strong and vigorous among us. Labor is an honor and a blessing to man, but what about the man who becomes so ambitious for worldly gain that so much of his time is taken up with business and temporal affairs that he finds no scatter thistle down all over the town. Returning to him she reported the work well done. He then commanded her to go out and gather it up again. She exclaimed, "That is utterly impossible." "Neither can you gather up the evil words you have spoken," was his answer. It also harms the speaker. Pollock has written a poem which runs: "Slander, thou foulest whelp of sin! The man In whom this spirit entered was undone His tongue was set on fire of hell: his heart Was black as death; his legs were faint with haste To propagate the lie his soul had framed; His pillow was the peace of families Destroyed, the sigh of innocence reproached, Broken friendships, and the strife of brotherhood." "Instead of speaking slanderous words of another we should seek to offset the falsehood with the truth. And old woman hearing a man evil spoken of said, after all the others had heaped calumny on his head, 'Well he might be all you say he is, but anyhow he is a good whistler.' I like the spirit. Magnify the good, forget the evil. 'There is so much good in the worst of us, And so much that is bad in the best of us, That it hardly behooves any of us, To talk about the rest of us.'" time for the house of worship or the nourishment of the soul? Clean sports likewise are good and wholesome, but when athletics, joyriding, the dance hall and the theater rob men of the time they should give to God, and his house, to the welfare of their soul and the best interests of morals generally, then it occurs to me that it is high time to call a halt and consider the more serious side of life and "How short our time is?" "Men, women, boys and girls seem to pride themselves these days in becoming some sort of a sport fan. The late Mark Hanna once said of a rich man that he had gone 'money mad.' It might be said today that society has gone 'sport mad.' Sports on any day, legal holiday or the Lord's day, it makes no difference, the fans are there. Distance does not stand in the way now, neither does expense hinder them. They go and enjoy the sport. The more hazardous the sport the more the fans seem to enjoy it.

"The situation is appalling, appalling because the tendency of the age is thus indicated to be toward self-gratification and casual indulgences more than toward the soul's need and spiritual mindedness. In the language of the text again, I ask is it not time to stop and consider, 'How short our time is?'"

"I appeal to men everywhere to give more thought to their soul's need. Why can we not have the enthusiasm of the sport fans in our churches? Christianity is the only permanent thing we can cling to in this and our enthusiasm for it ought to exceed our enthusiasm for all things else combined. Let us have such an enthusiasm for Christ that distance will not stand in our way in attendance at the house of worship; an enthusiasm that will fill our churches on Sunday morning better than the amphitheater at the ball park Sunday afternoon; an enthusiasm that will provide the church with ample means to carry forward its divinely appointed work uninteruptedly and aggressively. In a word let us have an enthusiasm that will tell for Christ more than for the world; that casts an influence for good and not evil, and that in Jesus Christ merits for the soul peace and not grief."

Main Street Christian

At the Main Street Christian church yesterday morning the Rev. C. M. Yocum spoke from the text Matt 12:34-37. His subject was "Evils of the Tongue." He said in part:

The heathen philosopher Xanthus, expecting some friends to dine with him, ordered his servant AEsop to provide the best things the market supplied. Tongues only were provided: and these the cook was ordered to serve with different sauces. Course after course was supplied, each consisting of tongue. "Did I not order you," said Xanthus in a violent passion, "to buy the best vituals the market afforded?" "And said AEsop, 'Is there anything better than the tongue? Is it not the bond of evil society, the organ of truth and reason, and the instrument of our praise and adoration of the gods?' Xanthus ordered him to go again to the market on the morrow and buy the worst thing he could find. AEsop went and again he purchased tongues, which the cook was ordered to serve as before. "What! tongues again?" exclaimed Xanthus. "Most certainly," rejoined AEsop, the tongue is surely the worst thing in the world. It is the instrument of all strife and contention, the inventor of lawsuits, the source of division and war; it is the organ of error, of lies, calumny and blasphemies."

"To bear false witness wrongs the person spoken of. His reputation suffers; the public wrongfully repudiates and discards him and he being discouraged, is repressed in worthy ambition.

"It wrongs the public. The public has a right to know the truth. Moreover it cannot be recalled. A woman guilty of slander was commanded by her priest by way of penance to

Samuel H. Murphy Brings Action Against T. H. I. & E. in the Henry Circuit Court.

HERE ON CHANGE OF VENUE

The $11,200 damage suit of Samuel H. Murphy against the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company, has reached the local court on a change of venue from Henry county. The case is the outgrowth of an accident in Straughns on August 19, 1911. The complaint states that on that date the automobile in which Mr. Murphy was riding was struck by an interurban car at the Pike street crossing in Straughns. It is alleged that the car was running about forty miles an hour in violation of the town ordinance, which provides for a speed of twelve miles an hour.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Murphy was permanently injured through the negligence of the defendant company. He sustained three broken ribs and numerous bruises. The complaint is in four paragraphs. The case has been set down for trial July 6.

TOWNSEND TO TALK AT THE CONVENTION

United States Senator From Michigan Will Address Republicans of Sixth District June 16.

FRESH FROM THE CONFLICT

Patrick J. Lynch, of Newcastle, Republican district chairman, has received word that United States Senator, Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, will speak at the Republican congressional convention at Cambridge City June 16.

Senator Townsend was a member of the house of representatives for ten years before he was elected to the senate and his capacity as a thinker and his ability as an orator have long been recognized in both legislative bodies. He comes fresh from the scene of conflict in the hall of legislation and will doubtless eloquently set forth his reasons for espousing the Republican principles at this critical time. A large delegation of Rush county Republicans will go to Cambridge City for the district convention.

COMPLETE PLAN SUBMITTED TODAY

American Delegates Present Their Ideas on Pacification of Mexico to Mediators.

WILL GO TO MEXICANS NEXT

(By United Press.)

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 8.—Justice Lamar said today that the American delegates to the mediation conference had submitted a complete plan for the pacification of Mexico. The mediators have also submitted a plan to the American delegates. The next step will be to submit the American plans to the Mexican delegates.

Hope increased today that Carranza may soon be represented here today. When Huerta rescinded his blockade order the only point that seriously threatened mediation was eliminated.
